Why Legacy is Special (Part I)

As I considered how to introduce myself in my inaugural post in the Roaring News I came to two conclusions. One, I don't like to talk about myself. And two, I would rather talk about why I am excited to serve Legacy in this new capacity. I will tell you briefly about me but I will mostly focus on why our family has enjoyed being at Legacy since we moved to the Reno area almost four years ago; that is Legacy's vision, the staff, and the families.

So here is my story: I grew up in Michigan and received a Bachelor's Degree in Civil and Environmental Engineering from Michigan State University (that's the Spartans, in green and white J!). After working for eight years in the private and public sector I decided to switch careers when our family moved to Oregon. I received a Master's degree in Mathematics Education from Oregon State University. Prior to Legacy, I worked in a public middle school in Oregon and in a Christian school in Oklahoma. I have been at Legacy since 2008. Fran and I have been married 14 years and our three children attend Legacy. We whole-heartedly believe in Legacy's vision of passionate, Christ-centered leaders equipped to impact their homes, their communities, and the world.

The Roaring News editor informed me that space is limited ;0), so you'll have to tune in next week to find out more about why I think Legacy is so special. But I will close with the belief that Legacy is comprised of many wonderful, Christ-centered people. It is in an environment surrounded by such people that I am privileged to serve a loving and faithful God. I appreciate the extra time, effort, and resources our families contribute to make Legacy a great school for our children. I look forward to finishing this year strong and working together to make Legacy even better in the future.

Blessings,
David Ryan

Ways To Support Legacy

Come One, Come All
To The CLEA Board & PTF Coffee & Dessert
Question & Answer Session!

WHEN: 31 January 2012 @ 7:00pm
 WHERE: Fellowship Hall
 TOPIC: Financial Health & Staffing Of LCS

Childcare will be available

Look in the hallway, by the 4th grade classroom, for the Teacher Appreciation bulletin board. Pour out your love to our staff by taking a heart (or two or three or more) and fulfill their classroom needs and wants. We love our teachers and will help them be successful.

Prayer Reminders for the Legacy Family:

1. Students— that they develop a love for learning
2. Teachers— strength for new work
3. LCS— growth of student body
4. Reno/Sparks— movement of God
5. CLEA Board— wisdom & unity
6. The Shankles- as they transition
